

GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION

The following is The Folly Fellowship's policy on Data Protection

1. Details of the categories of personal information that the operator will collect, including specific details where the information is not collected directly from the data subject:

Personal information, bank details.

2. Information about the uses to which personal information may be put and the legal bases of processing:

Society administration, contacting members about our events/activities/publications, legitimate interest.

3. Identifying the persons, and classes of persons, to whom personal information may be disclosed:

Not disclosed. Consent required.

4. Specifying what (if any) international transfers of personal information may take place:

Does not apply.

5. Setting out the operator's policies in relation to the retention and deletion of personal information:

Personal information supplied by members about themselves retained digitally while membership is current. Such information is deleted after membership ceases but Gift Aid documents retained until claims cease. Paper records retained per company law.

6. Identifying the security measures taken by the operator to secure personal information:

Access control, encryption.